

Neelie Kroes talks Open Science

Martin Fenner, Gobbledygook

July 21, 2012

Earlier this week the European Commission announced new measures towards open science. As part of the announcement interviews of three scientists with European Commission Vice President Neelie Kroes were posted on YouTube. Here is a summary: